Contents

Preface: A Prequel to the Green New Deal xi
Acknowledgments xvii
List of Abbreviations xix

1 “The Biggest Threat to Our Humanity”: Climate Change and the Emerging Labor–Climate Movement 1
   Changing Climate, Changing Society 6
   Confronting the Major Pillars of Support for the Fossil Fuel Regime 9
   Motivation for This Research 15
   Primary Research Questions and Methods 17
   Studying the Labor–Climate Movement: Three Case Sites 19
   Outline of the Chapters 26
   The Journey Begins 30

2 From Donora to Dakota: A Mixed History of Labor–Environmental Relations in the United States 32
   Understanding Labor Opposition to Environmental Protection 33
   Understanding Labor Support for Environmental Protections 43
When Structure Meets Agency: Why Some Unions May Be More Likely to See Environmental Protection as a Labor Issue 50
From Understanding the Past to Decoding the Present 56

3 Industry, Interests, and Ideology: Understanding the Labor–Climate Spectrum 58
The Labor–Climate Spectrum 59
The Big Picture 85

4 “Climate Change Is Unequivocally a Labor Issue”: Defining the Problem and Identifying Targets 87
Enter the Labor–Climate Movement 89
Collective Action Framing and Frame Alignment Processes 90
Defining the Problem: Diagnostic Framing in the Labor–Climate Movement 96
Attributing Blame: Identifying Targets of the LCM 100
Building the Base: Frame Alignment Processes in the Labor–Climate Movement 112
Redefinition 114

5 Union Workers for a Clean and Just Economy: The Prognostic Frames of a Just Transition 116
Just Transitions: A Brief History of the Concept 117
Just Transition Frames in the Labor–Climate Movement 119
Explaining Variation in Just Transition Frames among Labor–Climate Movement Activists, Unions, and Social Movement Organizations 139
From Framing to Action 146

6 Educate, Agitate, Organize: The Tactical Repertoire of the Labor–Climate Movement 148
Actions Initiated by the State Partnership for Employment and Climate 152
Table of Contents

Actions Initiated by Unions for a Sustainable Economy 162
Actions Initiated by Labor Unions for Public Energy 174
The Shape of Things to Come 179

7 Pandemics, Presidents, and Public Perceptions: Changing Opportunity Structures for the Labor–Climate Movement 181
  - Changing Opportunity Structures for the Labor–Climate Movement, 2018–2022 182
  - Finding Movement in Labor: Labor–Climate Responses to Changing Opportunity Structures 197
  - Stakes Are High and Time Is Short 210

8 Conclusion: The Journey from Climate Alienation to Climate Solidarity 213
  - Just Transition and Modes of Change 220
  - Climate Justice Is Labor Justice? 223
  - Possible Futures for the Labor–Climate Movement 226
  - Conclusion 232

Notes 237
References 247
Index 267